Officials Reject Emergency Air Safety Rule Call

Issue Headed For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal air officials Wednesday night turned down a congressional demand for an immediate emergency air safety rule to halt the increasing number of tragic midair collisions between civil and military planes.

But the officials promised to have new safety measures in effect in about 90 days.

The congressmen, headed by Rep. Prince Preston (D-Ga.), promptly voted to take the matter directly to President Eisenhower.

Preston gave this account after his House Appropriations subcommittee called into a closed session James T. Pyle, chief of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Elwood Quesada, Airways Modernization Board chairman, and Undersecretary of Air Malcolm A. MacIntyre.

The subcommittee session was called hurriedly because of Tuesday's collision between a commercial airliner and a military jet trainer near Brunswick, Md. The tragedy cost 12 lives.

The congressmen asked the federal air officials to require immediately that military jet flights be put under instrument flight rules—IFR—and thus subject to control of civilian air traffic centers.

As it is now all over America, Preston told newsmen, the jets can climb in and around civil airways without the civilian air cops knowing anything about it.

"Brother, it's rough Russian roulette," Preston said. Pyle turned the subcommittee proposed interim step down on grounds that CAA facilities would be overloaded if they had to control military jet flights too, Preston said.

The Air Force also declined a subcommittee suggestion, pending further study, that the number of nonsecurity military flights be cut down.

So the congressmen—who handle funds for federal civil air work—formally directed Preston to call on Eisenhower to "take action to expedite a temporary solution of the problem."

Paris Control Move Defied By Algerians

Member Of Junta
Voices New Support
Of Gen. De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—Premier Pierre Pflimlin moved today to reassert his authority over the rightist hotbed in Algeria. He sent Gen. Henri Lorillot, his newly appointed chief of the combined French forces, to Algiers.

Lorillot's job is to confer with Gen. Raoul Salan, the French commander in Algeria who likes Gen. Charles de Gaulle. New defiance rolled up in Algeria as Lorillot's mission was announced.

"We will accept no one but Gen. de Gaulle," declared Alain de Serigny, influential member of junta there. "He is the only one capable of maintaining the unity of the nation."

Lorillot held the Algeria command before Salan took over.

One of Salan's top aides was returning to report to his chief after two days of talks in Paris with Defense Minister Pierre de Chevigne. The obvious aim was to strengthen the bridges between Paris and Algiers.

The current for calling De Gaulle to take over the government still dominates in Algeria and runs strongly in France. The armed forces and the war veterans are behind the general.

The Algeria situation—a week after antigovernment riots led to the formation of insurrectional committees of public safety—is as complex as ever.

Salan holds powers from Paris but wins his local popularity from backing De Gaulle. His effort to keep unity in the army may be threatened at any time by hot-headed officers he nominally commands.

Pflimlin, who reiterated today his belief in Salan's loyalty—which many doubt—is still trying to strengthen his hand and maintain contacts with the general.

The Premier worked feverishly with his minister of justice to get a reform bill ready for early submission to Parliament.

Salan's Enigmatic Words Evoke Cheers

ALGIERS (AP)—Gen. Raoul Salan, the Paris-appointed dictator of insurgent Algeria, told a wildly cheering crowd Wednesday night in cryptic and apparently symbolic language:

"We will all go to the Champs-Elysees." That is the beautiful, short, sloping tree-lined avenue and some time political echo chamber in the heart of Paris.

But once again Salan refrained from an outright call for a return of Charles de Gaulle to power in France, as the yelling crowd demands here in its loud daily demonstrations.

Salan's enigmatic words evoked ringing cheers. He let the few words stand without elaboration. An aide said he was being symbolic, that they expressed Algerian desires for a new regime in Paris to replace Premier Pierre Pflimlin's government.

(Salan on Tuesday got a new endorsement of faith from the Pflimlin government. It came as he continued to play a role that may be either appeasement or collaboration with the anti-Paris military-colonialist regime ruling Algeria. He has publicly praised De Gaulle—a French national hero of World War II—but he has stopped short of political commitments. As a personable veteran French military careerist and eminent patriot, Salan has soothed the Algerians' mobs with his words.)

Pentagon Backs Down On Guard Reduction Plan

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The governors' conference ended Wednesday with an appeal to President Eisenhower to team with Congress against the recession—and with his administration in retreat on cutting the number of National Guard divisions.

The Pentagon backed down on abolishing six of 27 National Guard divisions — to unrestrained applause of the state executives.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, told them the plan is out.

But the administration still may balk at cancelling a projected 10 per cent reduction in National Guard manpower.

So the governors pumped out a resolution demanding that the strength of the guard be kept at 400,000 men and 27 divisions.

That was in a business session at which the governors named Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida the new chairman of their conference, succeeding Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois.

Speeches, resolutions and election out of the way, governors whirled away by helicopter to inspect the aircraft carrier Forrestal, lying off the Florida coast.

In their final public forum the imposing issues as recession, taxes and heavy spending.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson talked about them, but for the moment the governors were more concerned with guarding the National Guard and its armories. They went on record, as expected, in urging that President Eisenhower "meet with congressional leaders of both parties to formulate jointly a comprehensive program for constructively meeting the economic needs of the nation."

These deliberations, the resolution said, should cover such items as unemployment insurance benefits, tax policies and public works. It recommended that the program "be developed on a nonpartisan basis and be given bipartisan support."

"Violated Oath"

Gunman Kills Doctor He Accused Of Malpractice

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A St. Paul doctor was slain Wednesday by a man who walked into his office, accused him of malpractice and shot him in the head.

The gunman then called police headquarters to report the shooting and waited beside the dying doctor until officers arrived and took him into custody.

The victim, Dr. Herbert L. Stolpe, 51, was dead on arrival at a hospital. A nurse who said she witnessed the shooting reported at least three shots were fired into the doctor's head.

Arrested was a man identified by police as Lawrence Kuehn, 25, charge.

Mrs. Elaine Carlson, 36, Stolpe's private nurse, told police

Kuehn came to the office with his two children, Sharon, 6, and Gary, 3, and asked to see the doctor.

The nurse admitted him to Stolpe's private office. The man pulled a pistol from his coat, she said, and fired at the doctor turned to greet him. Mrs. Carlson fled from the office to get help.

The gunman then telephoned police from the office and said he had shot the doctor because he had "violated the Hippocratic medical oath."

Police said Kuehn told them the alleged malpractice involved his wife who was killed in a traffic accident three years ago. However, records in Dr. Stolpe's office indicated he had never treated any member of the Kuehn family.

Plane Pilot Survives Rooftop Landing

The pilot of this plane, Wolodymyr Rondiak, 50, New Haven, Conn., escaped with cuts of the face when the craft drove into the roof of a home near the Ansonia, Conn., airport. The occupants of the house were away at the time. The nose and cab of the plane dropped into the living room of the house. The cause of the crash was not determined immediately.

Ike's Full Aid Fund Endorsed By Senate Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee tentatively approved Wednesday the full amount President Eisenhower is asking for military assistance and defense support in his new foreign aid program. It runs to $2,635,000,000.

The committee also wrote into the big mutual security bill a declaration of policy supporting continued aid to India to help that neutral nation complete its economic development plan.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California, a committee member and the Senate's Republican leader, told reporters after the closed-door session that the actions were tentative and still subject to reconsideration.

Eisenhower is seeking $3,942,092,500 to continue the foreign aid program through the fiscal year starting July 1. The House has authorized only $3,603,000,000.

On voice votes the Senate committee approved:

1. Military assistance of $1,800,000,000 to Allied nations, including planes, tanks, ammunition and other military hardware. The House held the figure to $1,640,000,000.

2. The full $35 million the President asked for defense support—economic aid to countries with which the United States has defense pacts, to enable them to support stronger defense forces that their own economies will allow. The House had voted 775 million.

3. A provision requested by Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) committing Congress to support, along with other nations, assistance of "the type, magnitude, and duration, adequate to assist India to complete successfully its current program for economic development."

Top Hats, Tails Ruled No Attire For Garbage Men

LONDON (AP)—London garbage collectors have the official order—they must not wear top hats and tails on the job.

Four happy garbagemen found a batch of formal clothes among the refuse the other morning. They put them on and breezed merrily through the day's work.

Municipal officials said they had received too many calls from householders asking about the change of uniform. The officials ruled solemnly that top hats and tails disrupt the orderly routine of a garbage collector's work.

Indecent Picture Distributor Seized

NEW YORK (AP)—A man tabbed the nation's biggest distributor of indecent pictures was arrested Wednesday. He was said to have made $300,000 a year through a complicated setup involving agencies and studios both here and in Denmark.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Sidney M. Fruhling said the man, William Glanzman, 32, dealt in indecent photographs and in art poses which were not indecent but suggestive.

Russians Offer Italy Weeks Hopeful, Other Official Sees Big Deficit

Official Reaction One Of Coolness

ROME (AP)—The Russians tossed a couple of peace offensive items into Italy's election campaign Wednesday.

Moscow announced a Soviet offer of a 20-year nonaggression pact to Italy, a charter member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Then the Soviet Parliament, the Supreme Soviet, forwarded a formal message to Italy's Parliament asking for support against rearmament of West Germany, which NATO has offered to equip with atomic weapons.

Each appeared aimed for propaganda effect in the campaign for election of a new Italian Parliament Sunday.

Italy's official reaction was cool. Chief foes of the pro-Western Christian Democrats who govern Italy are the Italian Communists—the largest Communist party in the West—and allied left-wing Socialists.

They follow the Moscow line.

Titoism Issue Faces Red Bloc

MOSCOW (AP)—An attack on Yugoslavia in Pravda led Wednesday to increased speculation that President Tito's brand of communism may be a top issue at a meeting here Saturday of Communist bloc leaders.

Except for brief announcements of the meeting in Izvestia, nothing has come from official quarters on the conference.

It will be the biggest gathering of Communist world officials since the November celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Soviet Union.

While the issues to be discussed have been withheld, Pravda's publication of a Polish Communist newspaper's attack on Tito made it fairly certain that Yugoslavia's rejection of Kremlin authority would be a top point.

Called to the Kremlin for the meeting are the government chiefs, foreign ministers and defense ministers of the Warsaw Pact nations—the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, particularly in objecting to setting Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Albania.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the nonaggression pact offer which Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko handed Italian Ambassador Mario di Stefano in Moscow Tuesday seemed to be the same as an offer Moscow made three months ago.

The previous offer was made on condition that Italy bar missile bases and neutralize its Adriatic coast. This was presented as part of a Soviet scheme to create a neutral belt through Central Europe from the Arctic Sea to the Mediterranean.

Premier Adone Zoli's government rejected that. It said the Soviet Union's outpouring of peace offensive notes was increasing rather than reducing world tensions.

Gromyko's offer was made as leaders of the Warsaw Treaty nations, a Soviet-led alliance designed as the Communist counterpart of NATO, gathered in Moscow for a summit conference.

More Thieves Called Answer To Recession

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—What this country needs to beat the recession is more thieves.

That's what the Southern Michigan Prison newspaper, Spectator, says in a tongue-in-cheek editorial.

"Without a criminal element there would be no need for police officers to protect you," the editorial suggested. "If there were no need for police officers, thousands of men would be out of work."

Banks, locks, burglar alarms, vaults, guards, insurance companies all would be unnecessary. Aren't you glad there are a few honest thieves around to keep you working?"

Argument Blamed Cars Driven By Husband And Wife In Fatal Crash

BRIDGETON, N.J. (AP)—A teenage girl whose husband was killed when her car collided with his said Wednesday an argument led to the fatal crash.

Mrs. Vera Wright, 19, told state police she quarreled with her husband, Lester, also 19, over who was to drive their car home Tuesday night.

Ten minutes later he was dead and she had a possible skull fracture. She was in good condition Wednesday.

State Police Sgt. Donald Samiley interviewed the woman at the Bridgeton Hospital. He said she told him this story:

She wanted to take a test for a driver's license Tuesday. The couple borrowed a car owned by Walter Robinson, 56, operator of a service station on Rt. 45 near WASHINGTON (AP)—One top government official sees some fairly rosy prospects ahead for the economy while another said the government faces a lot of in-the-red spending.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks gave the cheery view Wednesday to the House Banking committee: "I anticipate that the economic picture will be much brighter later this year and the next, if we do the right things now."

"Employment has been rising seasonally, certain business indicators are a bit better here and there and a spirit of revived confidence is beginning to appear."

The red-ink discussion came from Budget Director Maurice Stans, talking to reporters after a call on President Eisenhower.

Stans predicted that spending in the current fiscal year, ending next June 30, will be 73-73½ billion dollars, with a deficit of about three billion.

For the year beginning July 1, Stans said the government may be expected to go 8-10 billions into the red. Last January Eisenhower estimated spending in this new year would reach $73,900,000,000, with a surplus of 500 million. The recession, cutting revenue and increasing spending plans, has changed all that.

Looking farther ahead, Stans predicted that federal spending in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1959, will increase to about 80 billion dollars.

Stans said he and Eisenhower did not discuss the question of cutting taxes. He did say his own estimate of the deficit in the year starting July 1 did not include the possibility of tax cutting.

Eisenhower, in a New York speech Tuesday night, dwelled so much on the problems of inflation and red-ink spending that he seemed to be ruling out any plans for a general income tax reduction.

Weeks was before the banking committee in its study of how to help provide more jobs.

Weeks said he favored increased tax deductions — up to $50,000 a year—for new small businesses.

Bill Provides Biggest Boost In U.S. Annals

Rates For Letters, Postcards Would Go Up One Penny

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill providing for the biggest postal rate increase in U.S. history was passed by the Senate Wednesday and sent to the House.

It would raise the first class letter rate to 4 cents and add a penny to the cost of air mail letters and ordinary postcards, now delivered for 6 and 2 cents.

When these and other proposed increases become effective, Post Office revenue would be increased by an estimated 575 million dollars a year.

Pay Boost For Employees

About 265 million of this extra revenue would be spent annually on increased pay for the 520,000 postal employees. The bill carries a 10 per cent pay raise for most of the employees, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Dr. Irving I. Raines, director of the Postal Rates Division in the Post Office Department, said Congress has never passed a bigger rate hike than that contained in the 1958 bill. It covers practically every rate in every class of mail under congressional jurisdiction, he added.

Senate passage was on an 88-0 rollcall vote. The House is expected to pass the bill possibly tomorrow.

It is a compromise of previous measures passed by both chambers.

Ike's Approval Forecast

While the rates are lower than President Eisenhower recommended—and the pay raise is higher — it was predicted the President would sign it. Postmaster General Summerfield was reported to have given the bill a strong endorsement at the White House Monday.

If Eisenhower signs the bill before the end of May, the higher first class mail rates would become effective Aug. 1. Rate increases for other types of mail would be stretched out over a four-year period.

School Aid Bill Gets In Tangle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Education Committee accentuated the negative Wednesday.

It refused to approve a 1½-billion-dollar school aid bill and refused to send it back to a subcommittee for study. Then it refused to adjourn.

The committee might have been sitting there yet if Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-NC) had not ruled it was illegal to do so.

Barden based his decision on the fact that the House had gone into session, and committees as a rule aren't supposed to meet then.

The upshot appeared to be that the bill, offered by Rep. Frank Thompson (D-NJ), was still before the committee, although no one would be too positive about that.

All three decisions of the committee were on tie votes, which defeated the various proposals under parliamentary rules.

Barden and Rep. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga.) voted with 13 Republicans for a Republican motion to send the bill back to the subcommittee, and against a Democratic motion to approve the bill immediately for House action. In each instance there were 15 Democrats voting solidly the other way.

Five Injured In Blast On Destroyer Escort

HONOLULU (AP)—An explosion jarred the destroyer escort Silverstein at Pearl Harbor Wednesday, injuring an officer and four enlisted men.

A Navy spokesman said the blast occurred in a storage locker holding cartridges used to activate depth charges.

Of the injured, three enlisted men and the officer were aboard the Silverstein at the dock. The other enlisted man injured was aboard the destroyer escort Edmonds, tied up alongside.

Explorer III Back On Air

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP)—America's Explorer III satellite is back on the air after a week of silence, space expert Dr. James Van Allen said here Wednesday.

Van Allen, head of the State University of Iowa physics department, said the Explorer III high-powered transmitter had been heard from again as of today.

It was announced last week that the satellite's radio presumably had been knocked out by unexpectedly heavy radiation or by collision with a meteor shower.

Van Allen said scientists hadn't expected to hear from Explorer III any more, but that it apparently has recovered from whatever silenced it. He said he had no explanation for the change.

Van Allen addressed a luncheon of high school honor students here. He is chairman of the group of scientists responsible for internal instruments of the moons.

Reuther Plans To Enter Talks

DETROIT (AP)—Walter Reuther said Wednesday he personally will re-enter union contract negotiations with the Big Three automakers any time "they are ready to begin bargaining."

So far, he said, "they have shown no indication they are ready to do that."

The comments, which were made in response to questions by newsmen, brought a sharp retort from Louis G. Seaton, head of General Motors' bargaining team. Seaton said Reuther's statement "is fantastic in view of the fact that only last week the UAW settled major agreements (in the aircraft industry) for considerably less than what General Motors has put on the bargaining table."

General Motors, Chrysler and Ford have offered to extend present UAW contracts another two years.

Reuther said the "1955 model contract is no more acceptable today than a 1955 model car."

He said the companies saw fit to change their 1955 model cars and the UAW believes they should be willing to change the contracts.

"Whenever they are ready to bargain," Reuther said, "I am willing to enter negotiations 7 days a week, 24 hours a day. I don't call their offer of an extension of the old contracts collective bargaining."

Four Inquiries Seek Air Collision Cause

BRUNSWICK, Md. — Four independent investigations were started Wednesday to try to find the cause of the airliner-jet trainer plane collision which plunged 12 persons to their death Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Charles Adler Jr., well-known Baltimore inventor of aircraft warning devices, said an anti-collision invention he gave to the Civil Aeronautics Administration free of charge has been allowed to remain idle since 1951.

The four probes into the crash about eight miles east of this Western Maryland town, were launched by the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Air National Guard Bureau and two by Congress.

Seven passengers and the crew of four of a Capital Airlines Viscount died when the turboprop airliner and a Maryland National Guard jet fighter collided. A passenger on the fighter plane also was killed.

Capt. Julius R. McCoy, pilot of the fighter plane, was the only one to escape. He is in a Baltimore hospital with burns of the face, arms and neck.

The CAB sent a team of investigators to the scene of the crash but said it did not expect a final report for several months.

The Air National Guard Bureau in Washington also began a probe by convening a board composed of Air Force and Maryland Air National Guard officers.

Two separate congressional investigations were started. By coincidence, Tuesday's crash occurred as an aviation subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee was putting the finishing touches on a report about earlier crashes this year of military and commercial planes.

The Maryland collision was the third this year between military aircraft and passenger airliners and followed by only a month the collision of a United Airlines plane and an Air Force jet trainer which killed 49 persons near Las Vegas, April 21.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.), chairman of the Senate subcommittee, said he would introduce legisla-

Demo Harmony Ticket Issues Call For Unity

BALTIMORE — The harmony ticket victorious in Maryland's Democratic primary issued a unity call Wednesday to defeated candidates and other party leaders.

J. Millard Tawes, the hands-down winner of the nomination for governor, invited losers in the primary to meet with him Monday at breakfast in a downtown Baltimore hotel.

The invitation was issued after a Wednesday meeting of Tawes and his running mates — Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, winner of the seven-way fight for the senatorial nomination; Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, candidate for re-election, and State Sen. Louis L. Goldstein, candidate for the comptroller's spot now held by Tawes.

"Now that the primary is over, the Democratic party should close ranks and work hard to restore responsible government to the state and the nation," Tawes said in a message to the defeated candidates and other party leaders.

"I invite you as a leader to our party to meet with me at breakfast Monday, May 26, at 9 a.m. at the Southern Hotel for the purpose of discussing the welfare of our party."

As the Democrats planned their first strategy meeting, Republicans were also at work on a similar mission.

GOP chieftains attending a dinner meeting in Baltimore put the finishing touches on the party platform and to plot general campaign strategy.

Invited to the session by Party Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart were the statewide candidates — Sen. J. Glenn Beall for re-election, Rep. James P. S. Devereux for governor, Robert A. Wallace for attorney general and Mayor John A. Derr of Frederick for comptroller — and other party leaders.

Beall, who defeated Henry J. Laque Jr. in the only Republican contest for statewide office, was obviously pleased by developments in the Democratic race to pick his opponent.

He noted especially that D'Alesandro, in winning the seven-way battle, polled only 35 per cent of the vote and indicated confidence that he will benefit from the 65 per cent anti-D'Alesandro vote in November.

Complete unofficial returns from the state's 1,337 polling places gave the Baltimore mayor 124,822 votes to 120,084 for George P. Mahoney, 56,591 for James Bruce, 44,727 for Clarence D. Long, 5,248 for Alden A. Potter, 4,744 for William F. Fidler Jr. and 4,072 for Andrew J. Easter.

In the all-important unit votes, D'Alesandro's margin was an overwhelming 83 to 44 for Mahoney and 25 for Bruce.

The formal nomination will come June 10, when the 152 unit votes are cast at the nominating convention by delegates from the 23 counties and six Baltimore City districts.

The Republican convention is set for June 7.

Nixon Urges Closer Contact With S. America

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nixon says it is high time for United States diplomats to pay attention to students, labor leaders and press representatives in Latin America.

He said these groups represent the wave of the future in Latin American countries, with prospects they will lead their governments in the next five to ten years.

Reporting Wednesday to a National Press Club luncheon on his riot-scarred visit to eight Latin American countries, Nixon strongly urged more personal contacts with citizens of the nations to the south.

He disagreed vigorously with critics who have said his attempts to debate policies with hostile Latin-American students fomented riots against him and were beneath the dignity of a vice president.

Nixon, answering a question after his address, said he deliberately met with students and labor leaders to answer criticism and show them that there is an alternative to communism.

The vice president said it would have been easier for him to confine his activities to a whole round of cocktail parties and white tie dinners. But, in a thinly disguised jibe at American diplomats now in Latin America, he added: "If we continue to concentrate on that area we might as well figure we will lost the battle."

Nixon repeated what he has already said since his return from Caracas, Venezuela, where he and his wife were attacked by a stone-throwing, spitting mob — that it would be a great mistake to attribute the anti-American outbreaks there and in Peru entirely to the Communists.

North Carolina Bank Robber Eludes Posse

STOKESDALE, N. C. — A posse with bloodhounds searched through swamp and thicket for a desperate Negro bank robber Wednesday. He may be dressed only in his shorts and is carrying a sawed-off shotgun and $10,000 in loot.

The young bandit, obviously tough and resourceful, robbed the Stokesdale Commercial Bank of $18,424. He has eluded the posse since he abandoned his stolen getaway car and dashed wildly into the treacherous terrain, dropping part of the loot in his disordered retreat.

Officers recovered $8,906 of the money taken from a frightened teller shortly after noon Tuesday. The FBI said it was either dropped or discarded by the bandit as he fled in a hail of bullets fired by bank cashier Gerald Richardson.

About five miles away the thief abandoned the car, fleeing on foot into the heavy brush.

Guilford County Sheriff John E. Walters said a pair of trousers and a coat, which apparently belonged to the bandit, were found late Wednesday.

Sheriff Walters said many spectators filled the five-mile-square search area, making it difficult for the 50 posse members to proceed.

Defeated Stassen Says Political Future Up In Air

PHILADELPHIA — Harold Stassen, who aimed to try the Pennsylvania governorship for comeback size and lost, tardily conceded defeat Wednesday. From the rubble of his shattered hopes, he said he had no idea what his political future might be.

Stassen was beaten by over 230,000 votes in Tuesday's primary election, a more crushing defeat at the hands of newcomer Arthur T. McGonigle, Reading pretzel manufacturer, than anyone had predicted.

The team fielded by the state Republican organization had easy going all the way. McGonigle's running mate, veteran Rep. Hugh Scott of Philadelphia, won the nomination for the U.S. Senate with the largest count of votes for any of the party's candidates.

On the Democratic side, organization men won by even greater margins. David L. Lawrence, mayor of Pittsburgh, was nominated for governor and George M. Leader for senator.

With only 40 of the state's 8,887 precincts still to report, the Republican returns showed:

Governor: McGonigle 537,795; Stassen 343,496. William S. Livengood Jr., one of the other two candidates, had 137,811.

Senator: Scott 738,770; Weldon B. Heyburn, who ran on the Stassen ticket, 171,943.

In the Democratic primary, returns from the same number of precincts gave:

Governor: Lawrence 713,863; Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman 191,274.

Senator: Leader 710,557; Clarence P. Bowers, who ran with Furman, 248,765.

In the November election, Pennsylvanians will vote in successors to the 40-year-old Leader, second Democratic governor in 60 years, and to Sen. Edward Martin, Republican, who is retiring after two terms.

Thank you for your generous support in Tuesday's primary election. I shall always strive to prove worthy of your trust in me.

Colman's Funeral Quiet And Simple

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — Funeral services for Ronald Colman Wednesday were in keeping with the manner in which the British-born actor lived — quiet and simple.

Many film personalities came 100 miles from Hollywood for the rites in All Saints-by-the-Sea Episcopal church.

Easter hymns were played during the 15-minute service. There was no eulogy for the 67-year-old actor who died last Monday of a lung infection.

Head Lice 'Epidemic' Hits Portland, Ore.

PORTLAND, Ore. — An outbreak of head lice has all but depleted druggists' stocks of medication in Portland.

No one has kept statistics, but Dr. F. Sydney Hansen, county health officer, said thousands of school children have been infested since February. He said the outbreak was spreading to hundreds of new children each day.

Dr. Thomas L. Meador, city health officer, said there were some lice, but more hysteria. He said many people are mistaking dandruff for nits-lice eggs.

Meanwhile the druggists are nearly out of medication, and doctors are augmenting their remaining stocks with advice to parents to use vinegar or a mixture of kerosene and olive oil on children's heads.

Ignoring Son's Wave Costs Father $16.20

MARION, Ill. — William Cain, paused at a stop sign in his automobile Tuesday. He spotted his son on the street and returned what he thought was a wave from the boy. Then Cain drove off.

What Cain forgot he remembered in court. His son was on duty as a school patrol boy. The wave was a signal to stop. Police ticketed him for driving through a school zone.

He paid a $16.20 fine.

Three State Senators, 11 Delegates Lose

BALTIMORE (AP)—A change of command in the Legislature and many new faces among its members were assured Wednesday following a primary election which bounced 3 state senators and at least 11 delegates out of office.

Seven senators and 32 delegates had decided earlier not to try for renomination.

In the Senate, only 19 of the 29 members who served at Annapolis last February were still in the running of reelection Wednesday and 15 of these have opposition in the general election.

In the House, 78 of an original 123 delegates are left and all but 14 of these have opposition in November.

One of the delegates who lost his job was Speaker John C. Lubber of Baltimore's 5th district, who has presided over House sessions for the past eight years—a record at Annapolis.

Lubber's defeat left only Majority Floor Leader Gordon Boone of Baltimore County among the top three officers still in that chamber. Boone led the balloting for the Democratic House ticket from Baltimore County in yesterday's primary. He has headed the House's powerful Ways and Means Committee the past four years in a partnership with Lubber.

The other major committee, chairman, Del. Lloyd Simpkins of Somerset, quit his Judiciary Committee post to seek Democratic nomination to the State Senate. He won over Harvey Dize yesterday and will oppose Republican Harry Phoebus, Senate minority floor leader, in November.

The Senate also figures to have new faces among its leadership. Senate President Louis Goldstein (D-Calvert) stepped out to win Democratic nomination for comptroller, and Majority Floor Leader John Turnbull of Baltimore County decided not to seek renomination.

The only majority party officer left is Sen. Frederick C. Malkus, Dorchester Democrat and chairman of the Judiciary Committee. He had no opposition for renomination and faces Republican Charles H. Gibson in November.

Two of the senators who were defeated Tuesday lost to delegates who left their House seats to oppose them. Del. Harry Hughes topped Sen. Laymon Redden for the Democratic nomination in Caroline County and Del. Joseph Mach won from Sen. Anthony DiDomenico in Baltimore's 2nd District democratic primary.

The other incumbent defeated was Sen. Joseph A. Mattingly, St. Mary's Democrat who lost to State's Atty. Walter R. Dorsey. The new nominee is the son of Philip Dorsey, former State senator and now circuit judge for St. Marys County.

Delegates who had gone down to defeat in party primaries, with final returns still to come in on two races, included in addition to Lubber:

Edward R. Milanicz (D - Balto 1st), Benjamin A. Mrozinski (D - Balto 1st), Melvin Kenney Sr. (R - Balto 3rd), Truly Hatchett (D - Baltimore 4th), W. W. Meyers (D - Balto 6th), Ira Bird Kirkland (D - Anne Arundel), Lewis B. Tawney Jr. (D-Anne Arundel), Calvin O. Wade (D-Anne Arundel), Dorothy Jackson (D-Balto County), and W. Howard Brown (D-Howard).

Another probable loser was Del. J. Frank Raley (D-St. Marys), who trailed former Del. Henry Fowler with the final tally still to be reported.

In other races where delegates contested incumbent senators for nomination, Sen. Charles See (R-Allegany) withstood a challenge from House Minority Leader George Hughes, Sen. William James (D-Hartford) defeated Del. Thomas Hatem and Sen. Joseph Bertorelli (D-Balto 1st) won over

Other senators winning renomination over primary opponents included Clifford Friend (R-Garrett), Guy Johnson (D-Cecil), Frank Shipley (D-Howard), H. Winslow Wheatley (D - Prince Georges), Robert Dean (D-Queen Annes), and Harry Phoebus (R - Somerset).

Del. Hartley Stevens was defeated by former State's Atty. John L. Sanford Jr. in his bid for Democratic nomination to the Senate seat vacated by Ralph Mason. Del. Myron Bloom (D-Washington) lost to George E. Snyder for Democratic nomination to the seat vacated by Sen. Charles Downey (R-Washington).

James A. Pine won Democratic nomination in Baltimore County to the seat vacated by majority floor leader Turnbull and H. Gordon Trueman took a three-way race in Calvert for Democratic nomination to Goldstein's seat.

The only senatorial candidates without any opposition in the general election will be Sanford in Worcester County, Sen. Dean in Queen Annes, Sen. See in Allegany and Sen. Mary L. Nock (D-Wicomico).

Automatically elected to the House by virtue of yesterday's primary are Democrats Joseph E. Bullock, C. G. Kosakowski, J. J. Nowakowski, James J. Silk, Elmer E. Walter and J. S. Dembowski in Baltimore's 1st District, Tilghman Eaton and Charles E. Risley in Queen Annes; Randolph Harrison, James Latham and Thomas Huner Lowe in Talbot; and Russell Hickman, Norman Polk and Mark O. Pilchard in Worcester.

Negro Doomed To Die For Rape Loses Appeal

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals Wednesday upheld the conviction of Gus Merchant, a young Negro sentenced to die in the gas chamber for the rape of a Glen Burnie woman.

The court ruled that a statement taken from the 22-year-old Glen Burnie laborer was properly admitted to evidence and had not been obtained by coercion or inducement.

Merchant, the father of two, was convicted in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court last October after a trial by Judges Benjamin Michaelson and Matthew Evans.

Among the witnesses against him was the victim, a 31-year-old white woman who is the mother of two. She identified Merchant as the man who broke into her home last July, threatened her with a butcher knife and attacked her.

Defense attorneys claimed a statement attributed to Merchant was made involuntarily and was not admissible because police told him it would be easier on him in court if he made a statement.

There was some dispute about whether the word "easier," as recorded in testimony of one of the officers, was a mistake in transcription by the court stenographer.

The high court accepted certification by the two trial judges that their notes showed the officer testified he told Merchant a statement would be "used" in court against him.

The appellate judges said that prolonged questioning of Merchant did not amount to coercion, and they said a remark by one of the questioning officers that "the truth hurts no one" was a generalization which "cannot be construed as a promise of leniency."

The opinion left Merchant with executive clemency as his major hope for escaping the gas chamber. If Gov. McKeldin should commute his death sentence, it would be the 14th time he has intervened to save the life of a condemned criminal since he took office in 1951.

McKeldin has allowed four persons to die, and his decision in two cases is pending.

Condemnation Right Of Power Firm Disputed

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals was asked Wednesday to decide what right the Potomac Electric Power Co. has to condemn land in Maryland.

The question arose in two appeals from three suits brought about by Pepco's attempt to condemn land in Montgomery County for construction of transmission facilities.

Pepco is building a large electric generating station at Dickerson, Md. on the Potomac River near the mouth of the Monocacy River. It is trying to acquire a 250-foot wide strip of land 40 miles long for transmission lines from Dickerson to the Washington area.

Pepco claims the condemnation power as a successor to the Great Falls Power Co., which was given certain condemnation rights by the Maryland General Assembly of 1900.

Attorneys for the utility company argue that all assets of the Great Falls company were sold and transferred to Pepco through the Washington Railway and Electric Co. in 1947.

But three attorneys representing the landowners raised several points which they said bar Pepco from the power of eminent domain.

They said condemnation of the strip of land 20 miles from Great Falls for a power line is outside the scope of the condemnation privilege conferred on the Great Falls company for use in harnessing water power.

They also argued that the Great Falls company deeds only conveyed condemnation powers exercisable "in, at or near the Great Falls," and they said consent of the State would be necessary to make valid any conveyances attempting to transfer power of eminent domain.

The landowners also argued that condemnation powers of the Great Falls company had expired by 1947 because they were never used, and they said the company's power was limited to 2,000 acres, a limit Pepco has already reached.

The Great Falls company had purchased land for development of a hydro-electric power plant that never got off the ground.

Pepco was organized in 1896 in the District of Columbia and has been doing business in Maryland as an electric utility since 1909. In 1953 the Public Service Commission authorized it to exercise the franchise it acquired from the Great Falls company.

Service Club Bids

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gunnell Construction Co. of Washington was the lowest of 12 bidders Wednesday for a U. S. Army Engineers contract to build an enlisted men's service club and library at Ft. Meade.

Gunnell's bid was $493,013. Eleven other bids all were below the government estimate of $550,521 for the work.

Historical Tour To Be Saturday

Among the places to be visited on the third annual tour of the Allegany County Historical Society will be the old tunnels, and the Historical Society house and stable. The tour will be held Saturday from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The tunnels, located under Emmanuel Episcopal Church, were probably built as early as 1750. Originally named Fort Mt. Pleasant, the fort was used by General Braddock during the French and Indian War. Braddock changed the name to Fort Cumberland.

Allegany County Historical House was purchased in 1954. It is an 18-room brick structure located at 218 Washington Street, built in the late 1860s by Josiah Gordon, the father of Robert Gordon, for whom Cumberland's Lake Gordon was named. The house is structurally sound and sturdy. The Historical Society is the third owner of the 90-year-old house. Mr. and Mrs. W. Milnor Roberts Sr. owned the house for some 60 years, during which time several generations of the family lived there.

The stable in the rear of the Historical Society house, is located on Spruce Place. It was in a thorough state of dilapidation and the society has rebuilt the floors, added a new roof and windows. The original brick walls are still standing. Interesting to note is the old ice house under the stable. One side of the building stabled horses, and the other was the carriage house.

County Bar Association Holds Memorial Service

An impressive memorial service was held yesterday in Circuit Court for three members of the Allegany County Bar Association who died during the past year.

A large number of attorneys, members of the families and friends of the deceased and two former chief judges of Circuit Court, D. Lindley Sloan and George Henderson attended. Also attending were Dr. Thomas C. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, and Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided and the opening address was by James Alfred Alvrett, president of the association.

Harry Cioni Heads Parents League

Officers were elected and prizes awarded at the dinner dance of the St. Patrick's Parents Bowling League, marking the close of its first season. It was held at LaVale fire hall. Harry Cioni was elected president; Valentine DeAngelis, secretary and Ted Wojcik, treasurer.

Rev. Arthur Bastress, organizer of the league, was master of ceremonies. Champion team trophies were awarded to Mrs. Margery Cowan, Mrs. Jean Rice, Mrs. Ruth Clark, John Aman, Leo Powers and Mr. DeAngelis. Awards for high average were won by Mr. Cioni and Mrs. Pauline Cioni, high set, Eugene Scalletta. Humorous favors were given and impromptu speeches made.

The Knights of the Round Table were founded by King Arthur in 540 A.D.

Avirett listed the deceased members who were being eulogized. They were F. Brooke Whiting, William J. Gunter and Lewis M. Wilson.

William C. Walsh eulogized Whiting. He stated that Whiting was a native of Moorefield and practiced law in Cumberland for almost 60 years. He was 83 years old at the time of his death.

Whiting was a veteran of the Spanish-American War and was active in business, civic and social affairs of the community.

Eulogizing Wilson was W. Earle Cobey. He said Wilson, who died at the age of 58, had practiced law here for 26 years and served as attorney for both the City of Cumberland and Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

A native of Eckhart, Wilson attended Allegany High School and also West Point. He received his law degree from the University of Maryland Law School.

William H. Geppert eulogized William J. Gunter, who died last September following surgery in a Baltimore hospital.

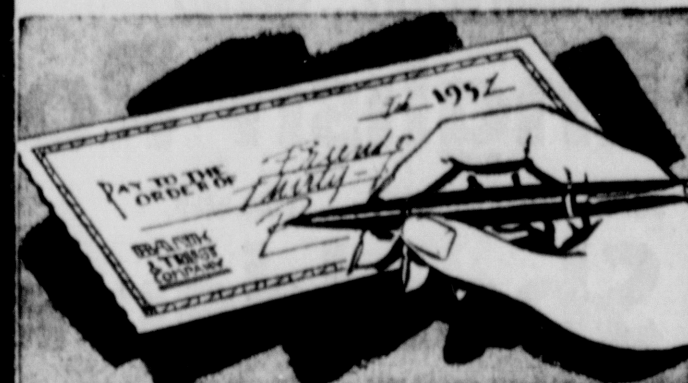

Gunter was a son of William A. Gunter, one of the prominent members of the bar here. He attended Allegany High School and Mercersburg Academy and after four years service during World War II he received his law degree from the University of Maryland.

Judge Harris made the final address and then ordered that the remarks and eulogies during the ceremony be inscribed on the minutes of Circuit Court.

PLYMOUTH SAVES YOU MONEY ON GAS... MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN VICTORY PROVES IT!

New "Fuel-Saver" Choke that helped clinch title is standard equipment on all Plymouth V-8s

Pound for pound, Plymouth uses less gasoline than either of the "other two" cars in the low-price "3". This was proved beyond doubt when a 1958 Plymouth V-8 was officially declared winner of the low-price car competition in the 1958 Mobilgas Economy Run. Plymouth's competitors also entered cars with 6-cylinder engines (supposedly more economical) but Plymouth beat every car in its class—V-8s and 6s alike!

This title-winning Plymouth is exactly the same Belvedere V-8 with TorqueFlite Automatic Transmission that you can buy right off your Plymouth dealer's floor.

These tests prove that every Plymouth has built-in economy features not found in the "other two". For instance—one of the most important factors in Plymouth's smashing win is the new "Fuel-Saver" Choke that you get at no extra cost on all Plymouth V-8s. This ingenious device employs a triple-stage vacuum piston and a new thermostatic element to reduce the amount of fuel you use in warming up the engine. So it can save you even more on short-distance drives—the kind most people make.

Among the many other savings Plymouth gives you is the $140 you save on standard-equipment Torsion-Aire Ride. The "other two" charge up to that much extra for their best suspension systems. And there are dozens more economies, too!

So if you are dollar-conscious, better hustle over and talk terms and trade with your Plymouth dealer. He's ready to give you a great deal!

Accused Killer Of Parents Caught In W.Va.

WESTON, W. Va. — Iva Hoover has been recaptured at gunpoint by two farmers eight days after his escape from the mental institution to which he was committed after being charged with the bludgeon murder of his parents.

The 30-year-old Hoover climbed over a fence enclosing a recreation area at Weston State Hospital May 13. He had been confined there last February after the battered bodies of his elderly parents were found at their farm home in a remote section of Ritchie County.

Hoover reportedly attempted no resistance when Lawrence and Russell Heater approached him armed with shotguns on Canoe Run, a secondary road, about 10 miles south of here. He was picked up shortly afterward by Lewis County Sheriff Gerald L. Hayes and two deputies and returned to the Weston State Hospital about 4 p.m.

Hoover had disappeared after the murder of his parents in early October of last year. An expert woodsman, he was not captured until eight days later. He was committed to the mental institution despite his plea that he be sentenced to death.

Deputy Sheriff H. B. Cobb said Hoover told his captors Wednesday that he "hadn't had a bite to eat" since getting away from Weston. Cobb explained that Hoover, haggard and unshaven, was so tired he dozed off while being driven in.

Hoover said he thought he could get away with his escape but found out "humans just have to have food to survive," Cobb said. He explained that the capture happened like this:

Lawrence Heater was driving to his farm in the mountainous area south of Weston when Hoover flagged him from the roadside. Heater went on and picked up his brother, who lived nearby. The two men returned with

Appeals Court Upholds Ruling

The Court of Appeals in Annapolis yesterday upheld an award of $19,168 to Mr. and Mrs. Brown Armstrong of Rawlings for injuries suffered by Mrs. Armstrong when her car collided with a truck driven by William Rephann of Pinto.

The accident induced a miscarriage, and Mr. Rephann appealed from the Allegany County judgment on the grounds the jury must have awarded damage for loss of the child even though the judge charged it not to do so.

The court yesterday said the injuries "would seem clearly to have justified the amount of the verdict."

loaded shotguns. They guarded the gaunt, weakened escapee until a neighbor's call brought the sheriff and two deputies.

Hoover explained that he had been in the woods the full time and had seen no one despite the intensive search of the area made after his escape.

Prior to the death of his parents, Hoover was committed to Weston three different times and to the Spencer State Hospital Once. He suffered a head injury while a high school student.

Hoover was recommitted in February by Judge Max DeBerry of the Ritchie County Circuit Court after both the prosecutor and defense counsel made a recommendation to that effect. But Hoover maintained that he was sane and requested the death penalty.

Why Take The Beauty Out Of Religion?

One of the strangest results of the Reformation was the removal from religious observance of all the beauty, all the ceremony, which from time immemorial had accompanied man's worship of his Creator.

The early history of Christianity and the history of architecture and art are closely tied together. Architectural styles, the great art treasures of the past, much of the great music, some of the world's great literature are a result of man's striving to express his love and worship of God in things of beauty.

And that's the reason for the liturgy, or ritual, used in certain churches — our own Episcopal Church, for example.

It is an attempt, as old as the Church, to translate into terms of beauty of action our adoration of God. And when that liturgy is written down as it is in our Book of Common Prayer, and put in the hands of all the members of the church, it gives the entire congregation the opportunity to join in the service and actually take part. Attend 3 times and SEE!

We believe that you, like us, will find the liturgy of the Episcopal Church helpful in increasing your feeling of "being in church". Why not try it? Visit the Episcopal Church near you soon. You'll find a warm welcome awaiting you.

First Methodist Sets Groundbreaking

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new edifice that will house the congregation of First Methodist Church will be held Sunday afternoon at the site, in the 1500-block of Frederick Street, Rev. E. W. Culp, pastor, said yesterday.

Members of the church now located at 127-31 Bedford Street will go to the groundbreaking after attending the 10:30 a. m. services.

Rev. Dr. Paul Warner, superintendent of Hagerstown District, will speak.

The presidents of the church's organizations will also participate.

They are Hayes Chambers, president of the trustees; Robert Lawellyn, chairman of the official board; Mrs. Burr James, president of the WSCS; and Burr James, president of the Methodist Men.

The construction will begin in about one month, Rev. Mr. Culp said. A contractor has not been selected.

The new building will be the first unit of a U-shaped structure. It will be 90 feet long and 51 feet wide.

There will be entrances at street level in the front and ground level in the rear as the building is being constructed on land sloping down hill from the street.

The ground or first floor will have four large rooms for Sunday School departments and plus boiler room and rest rooms.

The street level floor will have the assembly room seating 320 people, a hallway, pastor's study and church office.

The brick edifice will be of contemporary design. Planned in future are a kitchen and a mothers' room.

Walter H. Shaffer, of the local store, was initiated into the club as he has completed 15 years of more of continuous service.

Others with more than 15 years service here are Mary T. Campbell, Edward Stewart, Bess I. Dannecker and Harry B. Williams.

Employees not eligible to attend the meeting but receiving G. C. Murphy stock are Minola S. Baker, Azelma E. Frantz, Mildred H. Payne, Thelma H. Walk er, Joseph M. Byrne, Mary T. Spearman, Floyd L. Valentine, Mary R. Messman, Beytte R. Sowers and Max Bastian.

The highlight of the meeting was the honoring of all past presidents starting with Ralph Blank, McKeesport, the first president who is retired.

E. G. Prociuous, the current president who is director of labor and public relations in the home office in McKeesport, welcomed the veterans.

An initiation was held for the 1958 group followed by luncheon, and entertainment in the afternoon. At the dinner in the evening W. C. Shaw, chairman of the board, and J. S. Mack, president of the company, spoke.

The membership of the club is 1,391. Of these 191 are new 15-year members who were initiated Monday. They received a pin, certificate of award and advanced into the four-week paid vacation plan.

LaSalle Scholarship Winners Announced

Eighth graders from three parochial schools won scholarships to LaSalle High School as a result of competitive mental and general ability tests given Saturday, Brother G. Paulian, principal, said yesterday.

The winners of the four-year tuition fee awards are John Edward Sitter, 400 Piedmont Street, from St. Patrick's School; Robert Edward Garlitz, 613 Memorial Avenue, St. Mary's School, and Joseph E. Boyle, 109 Mt. Pleasant Street, Frostburg, St. Michael's.

Brother Paulian said ordinarily only two are granted by the school, but there was a tie for second place. Eighty-nine boys took the examinations.

Candidates File

The seventh and eighth candidates for City Council filed yesterday with City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

They were Philmore F. Fleming, 516 Sheridan Place, a newcomer to city politics, and incumbent Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

Democrats See Victory Through Primary Unity

May 20 marks the day of the unification of the Democratic Party in Maryland and particularly in Allegany County, Simon F. Reilly, chairman of the harmony ticket campaign committee declared yesterday.

The harmony slate made a clean sweep in state and county voting.

Reilly said: "After eight years of famine, the vote given the harmony ticket of Tawes, D'Alesandro and Goldstein, plus Sybert, who was unopposed, shows that harmony now reigns in the Democratic ranks and that this harmony group will be successful in the general election."

"I wish to express my deep appreciation and thank each and every Democrat whose efforts contributed to such a successful campaign."

"The primary is now behind us. Our sights are set for the general election."

"In order to be successful, all Democrats must close ranks, work as a unit and then by the untiring efforts of all of us, we shall march forward to a sweeping victory in the general election in November."

Four Local Underwriters To Be Honored At Dinner

Four local life underwriters will be honored at a luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Life Underwriters Association today at noon at Central YMCA.

Scheduled to receive the national quality award are Olin B. Logsdon, Raymond Neder, Norbert O'Donnell and Norman F. Geatz Jr. The award, in recognition of achievement of high professional standards, is presented annually by the Life Insurance Agency Management Association of Hartford and the National Association of Life Underwriters.

L. M. Roberson, president of the local organization, said the awards will be presented by James R. Umbarger, assistant manager of life, accident and health lines in the Baltimore office of the Travelers Insurance Company.

Umbarger will also address the local underwriters on "Ability of Closing" and "Quality Business," Roberson said. A graduate of Grove City (Pa.) College, Umbarger furthered his studies at the University of Pittsburgh. He entered the insurance business as a special agent for casualty and fire lines for the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association. Since 1953, he has been associated with Travelers Life, being named to his present position in 1955. Umbarger has completed two years of the Life Underwriters Training Course.

What Do People Think -- And How?

Massachusetts Institute of Technology has embarked on a study to answer man's age-old question about himself—how do human thought processes work? After considering all the time and resources spent trying to offset man's motivations, perhaps it is time to unravel the source of his motivations.

Called the Center for Communication Sciences, the study group will correlate its research on how man thinks with ideas for improving the "thinking" processes of computing machines. There are those who are confident it will be easier to improve the mechanical brains than to understand the human variety.

Considering the complexities of the human anatomy and the rapidity with which an image is filtered through all the senses to the brain, it is easy to understand man's relative ignorance of himself. Ceaseless research, however, has made some headway.

Head of the committee of scientists to undertake the study, Dr. Jerome B. Wiesner, director of the MIT Research Laboratory of Electronics, feels that it is not so much a matter of discovering new facets of man's thought processes as it is a problem of digesting all the data previously collected.

"So much research has been done that many uncorrelated facts exist about the performances of people and of machines. We need generalizations and theories which will account for intellectual processes in detail," Dr. Wiesner said. A noteworthy and difficult study is in store for the MIT scientists. Man has much to learn about his own machinations.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Adam Clayton Powell Jr.

When an ordinary, white person is indicted for an offense against the law, he hires a lawyer and takes his chance on his day in court. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., member of the House of Representatives, preacher of the largest Negro church in the world, graduate of three American universities, has been indicted for tax evasion. He may or may not be guilty. That will be decided in a federal court. Should he lose he will have the right of appeal the same as anybody else. It is not a racial question.

In the 1956 election, Adam Clayton Powell Jr., who had been a Democratic leader in New York City and who has been elected to Congress as a Democrat, chose to leave his party and to support President Eisenhower. That was his choice and every American is free to make whatever choice he desires. He was not excluded from the Democratic Party; he voluntarily announced his opposition to its candidate for the Presidency and favored the opponent of his party. Whether this included a deal on the income tax case cannot be proven one way or the other.

At any rate, the Democrats decided that he no longer belonged to them. It was not a racial question. It was a matter of being a mugwump. It has long been established in American politics that a mugwump is not supported by his party. Therefore the Democrats in New York decided that they would no longer have Powell on their ticket.

It was no secret to them that during the very days when the Democratic County Committee in New York was considering this question and reaching a decision, certain Negro Republican district leaders in Harlem were demanding that the Republican Party nominate Powell for Congress. The Republicans refused. That refusal had nothing to do with the fact that Powell is a Negro. It does have to do with the fact that he is a mugwump and therefore politically unstable and secondly that he was under indictment, about to be tried and that the trial might result in embarrassment to the Republican Party. He was rejected by the Republicans before the Democrats threw him over.

The Democrats knew what was happening at the meetings of the Republicans and were ready, if the Republicans nominated Adam Clayton Powell Jr. to call it a deal. As a matter of fact, Powell's indictment took 14 months to obtain from the grand jury, resulted in the resignation of the Assistant United States Attorney who handled the case because he regarded the political pressure to which he was subjected as unseemly and unethical, and nearly produced a run-away grand jury action.

There are two sides to prejudice and discrimination. One is the side of the person of a minority group who attributes every act against his person as an act against his race. This is a form of Uncle Tomism in reverse. Actually there are white as well as Negro income tax evaders; Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and atheistic income tax evaders; gangsters who evade income tax payments and honest folks who make obvious errors in their reports. Some violations involve moral turpitude; others involve only the law. The income tax is bad law which must be badly administered and therefore results in voluntary and involuntary violations.

It would have been better, for everybody, had the Powell case not been delayed, giving the impression that Powell supported Eisenhower as part of a deal. It would have been better for the Negroes of this country if Powell did not relate his race to his personal problems.

Adam Clayton Powell Jr. went to the Bandung Conference which was organized by Soviet Russia to stimulate opposition to the United States against the peoples of Asia and Africa. He did a splendid voluntary job for the United States there.

I thought, at that moment, that this man had matured and that he would take his place in American life with such outstanding Negroes as Ralph Bunche, Jackie Robinson, Marian Anderson, Lena Horne, Hulan Jack and many others who are respected for their abilities and as human beings, not as members of this or that race. Powell, however, has reverted to racial politics and demagoguery. It may get him a vote but it will do the Negroes of this country nothing but harm. It takes courage to take the blame for one's own errors. Powell apparently lacks that courage.

U.S. Position Deteriorates With New Challenges

By Joseph Alsop

NEW YORK

In the feelings it inspires, Idlewild Airport lies halfway between the Apian Way and one of the space stations of the grisly future period. But even at Idlewild, waiting for a plane to crisis-ridden France, this reporter remains obsessed by the recent, strange experience of plunging back into Eisenhower's Washington.

The second Eisenhower administration, one notes as soon as one gets home, is rather strikingly different from the first. Neil McElroy is mercifully unlike Charles E. Wilson. There is a comparable lack of resemblance between Christian Herter and Herbert Hoover Jr. A score of other, very similar major human improvements might be cited.

There is also an improvement in the governmental atmosphere, although this is perhaps rather negative in character. At least, the old smugness has quite disappeared. At least, one is no longer constantly commanded to admire the selfless patriotism of captains of industry, who are using all their hard-won know-how to dismantle the defenses, to alienate the allies, and to weaken the world position of their country.

But something, unhappily, is still very wrong indeed in this Washington of Dwight Eisenhower's second term. The proof lies in the last fortnight's lurid, unending chronicle of disastrous American setbacks all over the globe.

What, then, is this something that is wrong?

In part, quite obviously, the chickens reared in the fat, smug outwardly lucky years of the first term are just coming home to roost. As was foreseeable, they all look like cultures. But in this reporter's opinion, the roots of the thing that is wrong go back to the very beginning, to the tragic drama that occurred when the President took office.

At that time, the United States still stood at the head of the world. But a whole bale of warnings was waiting on the new President's desk, even as he walked into the White House. These papers terminated in the last National Security Council directive of the Truman administration. They rather belatedly recognized that America's position would soon be challenged by the rapid, massive growth of Soviet power. They called for more effort—much more effort—to safeguard the American position.

With George Humphrey at the Treasury and Wilson at the Defense Department, the Eisenhower administration was already half-committed to less national effort. With Lewis Strauss moving in on the Atomic Energy Commission and Robert Cutler at the National Security Council, the Administration was already tending to the view that the people did not need to know about the people's business.

Even so, for nine long months in 1953, the President played with the idea of "Operation Candor." He wanted to tell the American people the harsh facts of their situation. He wanted to go on from there, to a call for greater national effort to deal with those facts. But finally, in October 1953, "Operation Candor" was blocked by the budget-firsters and the secrecy addicts.

Thereafter, the Administration increasingly refused to believe the intelligence reports. It was too uncomfortable to believe the Materialism At Root Of French Troubles; Lesson For The U. S.

By Drew Pearson

PARIS.—Outside the American Embassy parked under the chestnut trees just off the Place de la Concorde is a huge black police van. It parks there every night. It's dark inside the van, but every so often someone will light a cigaret and you can see rows of faces. They are faces of gendarmes sitting all night guarding the American Embassy.

Alongside the Embassy is the Hotel Crillon where lived Woodrow Wilson when he tried to hammer out a peace treaty which would prevent further devastation of France. Up along the Champs Elysees thousands of American doughboys marched when they first landed in France in 1917 and again when they liberated France in 1944. Much of French history, from Lafayette on, is intertwined with American friendship. Yet the dark police van, full of gendarmes, sits all night outside the Embassy of the nation which twice sent its troops to the aid of France and in 1947 spent billions for the reconstruction of France.

Military showdown—But how far can those gendarmes be trusted? They have been tough and courageous so far. When the Chamber of Deputies was threatened, the gendarmes didn't waver. On the other hand, they let Jacques Soustelle, leader of the revolt against the government, slip off to Algiers which he could not have done without their connivance. So people wonder. Especially they wonder about the Army. . . They know a showdown between the French military and civilian rule has been postponed a long time. It has been boiling ever since 1952 when Marshal Alphonse Juin wrote an article for the Revue de Deux Mondes blasting the European Defense Community. The French Cabinet had officially approved the EDC and its plan for a common army for western Europe. Nevertheless, Marshal Juin publicly opposed it. . . About the same time another military man in Japan, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, differed publicly with the Far Eastern policies of another civilian leader, Harry Truman. MacArthur was called home and fired. . . Premier Plevin called Marshal Juin to his office, but did not fire him. Ever since, Premier Plevin and all French premiers have had increased trouble with the French military.

But each time the civilian leaders have evaded the issue. They have not done what Truman did—forced a showdown.

The military become stronger—Shortly after the Marshal Juin incident, the French military kidnapped the Sultan of Morocco, August 15, 1953, and took him to Madagascar. The government in Paris let them get away with it. The Sultan is now King of Morocco, and the incident did not particularly endear him to the French. . . Again Admiral Thierry D'Argenlieu started shooting up Hanoi in what began the French Indo-China war. . . Last year the French military kidnapped five rebel Algerian leaders flying from Rabat, Morocco, to Tunisia. They were not on French soil. The act was a complete violation of international law. But the government in Paris bowed to the military. . . Last February 8 the French military bombed the Tunisian village of Sakiet-Sidi-Youssef, killing about 100 villagers. The government in Paris had not been consulted. The French military acted on its own. Again the government in Paris not only bowed, but even covered up for the military. . . With this record of vacillation, a showdown between the French Army and the French government was inevitable.

Pigeons in the park—The pigeons are fatter in Paris than anywhere in the world. And the children are rosier. I watched the former gobbler nits in the Tuleries Gardens and the latter jumping rope, roller-skating, and riding merry-go-rounds. . . Outwardly Paris is unchanged—old men looking crotchety, young couples looking lovesick, traffic cops looking bored, barges chugging up and down the Seine, American tourists sitting in the Cafe de la Paix trying to look French; museums, wide avenues, beautiful buildings, all the outward evidences of a great civilization, a people still virile, still vigorous, and more than ever passionate in defending their freedoms. . . Why then the political turmoil, the uncertainty, the danger of dictatorship? . . . Is it political apathy? Is it too much political representation, too many political parties? Is it the fact that France lost the flower of her manhood in two terrible wars? I'm not sure I know the answer; perhaps it's a combination of all these.

Worried France — But today France is not apathetic. It's worried. On the surface life is the same. The boulevardiers sit at little cafe tables drinking their aperitifs. The taxis scuttle up and down the avenues. Tourists try to blend into the landscape unnoticed. Americans are even polite and circumspect, like a tiptoeing hospital visitor who doesn't want to disturb a dying patient. . . But underneath the outward calm, France is more concerned about its future than at any time since Hitler's Nazis romped round the Maginot Line—all except the pigeons. . . The pigeons continue to gorge on nuts thrown them along the Champs Elysees, getting fatter. They don't have to be concerned with the crisis that grips France. Maybe the real trouble with France is fat—too much interest in its own material welfare. . . If so, it may be a lesson for the United States.

Cattle For The Fair

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK — (INS)—Somewhere on the high or low seas of the Atlantic at the moment, on the good Norwegian ark Hoegh Silver Beam, bound for Antwerp, God save King Baudouin, are 219 head of livestock: five buffalo, 40 steers, 20 bulls, and more horses than have beaten Silky Sullivan in the last fortnight.

The beasts' purposes are twofold, 1) to show the visitors at the Brussels World's Fair that biped Americans are more virile than the fashion show and cock-eyed art at the U. S. Pavilion might indicate and, 2) to enable Bob Hope and John Wayne to pay their income taxes.

We'll consider point two first. Hope and Wayne are major stockholders in something called Cramer Rodeo Shows, of which Gene Autry is president and, still of which a fellow named Casey Tibbs, who can actually ride a horse, is star performer. The company hopes to gross $250,000 a week at harvesting fair-goers, even though the Rodeo will be outside the fair grounds proper.

Some of our older Westerners are beginning to appear on European and Asiatic screens. The only real danger the stockholders, managers and performers will face may be an enraged group of customers from Madagascar demanding an immediate appearance of William S. Hart, currently the Perry Como of WMAD-TV.

The crazy mixed up Norwegian garbage scow that departed from New York Wednesday also had in its vociferous hold some 10,300 bleacher seats, plus lighting gear, sound boxes, six covered wagons, one (1) stage coach, and 20 teepees.

To populate the canvas Levittown, some 60 Sioux will be flown to Brussels May 30, after a fast flight from their South Dakota reservation to Denver. Three days later, 60 cowboys and 30 cowgirls will head them off at the pass, if Pan American Airways can arrange it that way. Eventually, they'll all get together—more or less—in the arena outside the World's Fair wall.

Also airborne will be the roof of the 10,300-seat rodeo arena.

INFECTION AND DIZZINESS

S. G. writes: Can the flu cause Meniere's disease? I never had this form of dizziness until hit by the flu bug.

REPLY

Yes, Meniere's syndrome leads to dizziness, ear noises, nausea, and vomiting. This may stem from a direct extension of the causative organisms or from the toxicity associated with an infection. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for our leaflet on Meniere's disease.

RICKETS AND HEREDITY

V. F. writes: A man who had rickets as a child has a slight chest deformity from the disease. He is perfectly healthy now. If he has children will they be born with the deformity?

REPLY

No. Rickets is due to a deficiency of vitamin D and is not inherited.

FIBROIDS AND GLANDS

R. T. writes: What is the cause of a fibroid tumor in the uterus?

REPLY

Fibroids are tumors of the muscular wall of the uterus. No one knows why they develop. There appears to be a connection between fibroids and sex hormones but there is no proof that ovarian secretions initiate the growths.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

What Happens Inside When Your Posture Droops

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Older men and women tend to stoop, which shortens their height by an inch or more. These changes in posture affect the organs in many parts of the body and should be avoided whenever possible. Some older folk need hormones to help deficiencies of this type.

Overnight correction of postural defects is impossible. It may take a month of training to alter body alignment, and even then results may not be marked. But there is some merit in stopping the progress of the condition because, without treatment, it is likely to get worse. The goal is to restore these persons to a normal elderly state and not to the way they were during their twenties.

The aging process affects bones, joints, and supporting structures. The cushioning disks between the vertebrae degenerate, causing the spine to shrink and lose its resiliency. These changes accentuate the curves, especially in the upper spine, leading to buffalo hump. The lower spine compensates by bowing forward.

The chest assumes a barrel shape and the ribs rotate slightly to maintain a fixed inspiratory position. Unsupported abdominal muscles tend to sag and this aggravates the curve in the lower back and compresses the pelvis. Though internal distortions follow those on the outside, so long as the two systems are in harmony, the individual remains healthy.

The middle-aged can discourage drooping and sagging through constant and persistent effort. There are many tricks along this line. The easiest is to sit, stand, and walk tall at all times. Keep the head up and focus the eyes on objects slightly above the level of the head.

Exercises may be needed to strengthen the abdominal and back muscles and work off the bay window. Good nutrition helps to correct deficiencies that weaken bones and muscles.

TOMORROW: Don't discard nutrients.

COLDS FROM READING

Mrs. D. writes: If a person with a cold handles papers and magazines and does not wash his hands each time after using a handkerchief, can another person pick up the germs by reading these same papers and journals?

REPLY

Possible but unlikely. Many physicians believe that more colds are transmitted via the fingers than the air. The hands are contaminated by the secretions and the organisms are transmitted to the nose and throat by touching the lips and nostrils. This is why cleanliness is stressed. But there is no sense in becoming a crank on the subject because there is a limit on how long the cold viruses live. In ad-

Garrett County Democrats Elect First Woman Member To Party's State Central Committee

OAKLAND—For the first time in Garrett County's history, voters elected a woman to serve on a State Central Committee in Tuesday's balloting. It was also the first time Garrett County voters had an opportunity to use their new voting machines.

Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, wife of a local physician, was elected a member of the Democratic State Central Committee in her first try for the office. Four years ago she was a close contender for election to the Maryland House of Delegates.

George P. Mahoney, in his consistently traditional fashion in Garrett County, ran far ahead of his field and polled a total of 905 Democratic ballots. Thomas D'Alessandro, major contender in the U. S. Senate race, polled 294 James Bruce finished third with 95; Clarence Long, 78; Alden A. Potter, 24; William F. Fidler, 19 and Andrew J. Easter, 9.

In the Democrat contest for governor, Millard Tawes led the entire ticket with 1,032 votes. Bruce J. Campbell polled 96; Joseph A. Phillips 33 and Monza L. Amalmo, 24.

Louis L. Goldstein, candidate for state comptroller, carried the county with 593; Joseph L. Manning, 426 and Sidney London, 65. For the House of Representatives from the Sixth District.

Richards Enters Race For Mayor

WESTERNPORT — Horace H. Richards, Maryland Avenue, an employee of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Mill Company has announced his intention of seeking election to the office of mayor of Westernport. He submitted a petition to the town clerk, bearing 39 names urging his candidacy.

Richards said he is interested in a progressive and efficient government for the municipality and is seeking election as an independent candidate, not affiliated with any slate or group. He stated he hopes to work for the best interests of community and to encourage service and economy.

This is his first venture in politics, although his father, Harry M. Richards, has served as a member of the town council, and is seeking election to council in this campaign. Richards will oppose Ray L. Wilt who filed for mayor several days ago.

Charles Town Race Track Opens Summer Season June 6

Top Pimlico Officers To Run Plant

State Commission Gives Minor Track 75 Days To Sept. 1

By GEORGE BOWEN
BALTIMORE (AP)—Three Baltimoreans who run historic Pimlico took over the reins Wednesday of the minor horse racing track at Charles Town, W. Va. They will open it June 6 for 75 days.

The surprise move ended speculation since the death last November of the track's builder, Albert J. Boyle, whether the 25-year-old oval would ever reopen. Boyle's widow failed to apply for the usual dates in January and February.

Billy Byars of Tyler, Texas, announced last April he was taking on option, one of several in recent years, to buy the track for more than four million dollars.

However, the West Virginia Racing Commission received no application for summer dates and this week announced it would wait no longer than tomorrow.

The assumption of operating control by the top Pimlico officers, Ben and Herman Cohen, and Louis Pondfield, was accompanied by simultaneous announcement by the State Racing Commission that the track would operate June 6-Sept. 1.

Six Benefit Days
Six days will be run for the benefit of the Charles Town Horse Assn. June 16-21, as in the past.

The Pimlico owners said they took control "under the terms of a private agreement with Mrs. Albert J. Boyle," widow of the proprietor.

Two court suits have been filed challenging the legal position as widow and principal beneficiary of Boyle's will. Boyle's first wife filed one suit and their four children the other.

Shortly before his death, Boyle sold Waterford Park, a mile track he built near Chester, W. Va., on the opposite side of the state from Charles Town, for $2,600,000. It was bought by Roy Markus of Cleveland and Nicholas and Charles Tweel of Huntington, W. Va.

The Cohens, who are real estate developers and former owners of a television station in Baltimore, took over Pimlico in 1954. Pimlico is the second oldest track in the United States and home of the famed Preakness.

The Cohens have unsuccessfully sought legislative permission to close the 88-year-old plant and continue to promote racing at Laurel, one of the two other major tracks in Maryland.

Plans Not Disclosed
They did not disclose any plans for improving or expanding the track at Charles Town. They promised naming of officials "and other details will come shortly."

The track has a grandstand seating 2,500, a clubhouse for 200 and stables for 700 horses.

It has been a popular track for owners of small strings of horses who have been worried over the prospect of being without racing in the area for almost the entire summer. After a 12-day meeting at

Russ Kemmerer Beats Athletics

Senators Belt Trio Of Homers, Win 6-1

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Fastballer Russ Kemmerer put an end to Kansas City's five-game winning streak Wednesday, pitching Washington to a 6-1 victory as Jim Lemon, Norm Zauchin and Ken Aspromonte clouted home runs.

Kemmerer's four-hit performance also put an end to a seven-game Washington losing streak. He probably would have had a shutout if Albie Pearson had not lost Bill Tuttle's high fly in the sun in the fourth inning. The ball fell for a triple and Woody Held's single brought Tuttle home.

The Washington right hander struck out five and walked only one as he notched his first victory against a pair of losers.

Bel Air, Md., ends there would have been no more until Aug. 30.

"The imminent opening of Charles Town will relieve a potentially serious economic situation among the owners of horses which race on the half mile circuit in this area," the Cohens said. "Our first aim was to complete the agreement so we could get dates immediately."

Have Money Maker
The Cohens did not disclose details of the agreement, but a spokesman said "We hope it will be permanent."

The Cohens are taking over a money maker in the Charles Town track. As much as $640,000 has been bet in one day at the track in February. The winter months were Boyle's key to attracting the dollars when other tracks in the East weren't operating.

Phillips Tight In The Clutch, Beats Bucs 5-1

Chicago Is Paced By Moryn Homer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Southpaw Taylor Phillips of Chicago walked eight batters but turned on the pressure in the clutch to stop the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1 Wednesday on five hits.

A three-run third-inning clinched the victory for the Cubs. The payoff blow was Walt Moryn's two-run homer into the upper deck. It followed singles by Tony Taylor, Alvin Dark and a sacrifice fly by Ernie Banks.

The Cubs jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a walk, a single, wild pitch and a sacrifice fly. They added one more in the ninth on a bases-loaded passed ball.

The Pirates lone run in the eighth was unearned. With two outs, Frank Thomas was safe on an error by Alvin Dark. Clemente singled and Billy Mazaroski followed with another smash to score Thomas.

Lawdy Claudy Captures 3rd Stakes Victory

Filly Ups Earnings To $34,906 By Win

ELMONT, N. Y., May 22 (AP)—David P. Reynolds' Lawdy Claudy, a fleet daughter of Woodchuck-Rhinestone, won her third straight stakes in annexing the 60th running of the Fashion Stakes, a 2-year-old filly classic, at Belmont Park today.

Ridden by Eddie Arcaro, Lawdy Claudy soared home by seven lengths in the moderate time of :59 2/5 for the five furlongs, over Hal Price Headley's Aesthetic, 100-1 shot, who finished a half length ahead of Ethel D. Jacob's Hope Is Eternal. Claiborne Farm's Nasturtium was a head out of the money.

Lawdy Claudy took command after a furlong and once in front opened up a winning advantage. Aesthetic closed fast to beat the others.

Townsend B. Martin's Portuaca broke in front, but wilted after three furlongs.

Solid favorite with the crowd of 22,867, Lawdy Claudy returned mutuels of $3, $2.70 and $2.30. Aesthetic paid $31.60 and $9.70 and Hope Is Eternal was 4.10 to show.

Lawdy Claudy won the Singing Tower at Gulfstream, the Roseade at Jamaica prior to today's score which netted $11,285 and jacked her total earnings to $34,906 for a complete record of five victories and two thirds in seven starts.

Miler Sees 4 Or 5 Others Beating Mark

VANCOUVER (AP)—Australian miler Merv Lincoln said Wednesday he wouldn't be surprised if at least five men break the four-minute mark in the British Columbia Centennial Games' mile.

The 24-year-old economics teacher, who arrived here Tuesday, said he feels Derek Ibbotson, the great English miler; Poland's Stefan Lewandowski and Australia's Alex Henderson, also competing in the game's feature event June 7, can break the four-minute barrier "on any given day."

"If one man breaks four minutes I wouldn't be surprised if four or five others did likewise," he said.

Team To Practice

Fight Against Shrub Disease Is Outlined

Dr. L. O. Weaver, plant pathologist of the University of Maryland, who visited in Allegany County yesterday, has this to say about disease control of ornamental shrubs:

The rain and cloudy weather this spring have been favorable for disease development.

Don't wait until the pests become established. Ornamental apple and crab-apple trees are susceptible to scab, cedar rust and powdery mildew. Scab causes dark, moldy spots on leaves, while rust causes orange spots.

In both cases, heavily infected leaves fall from the trees, which should be sprayed with ferbam or zineb for rust, plus captan for scab control. The addition of wettable sulfur would prevent powdery mildew.

Maryland Extension Service Bulletin 125, he said, lists combination sprays for fruit and related ornamentals. Plant pathology mimos available at the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, include No. 11, botrytis blight of peony; No. 16, powdery mildew of ornamentals; No. 21, azalea iron chlorosis and fact sheet; 73, diseases and insects of roses and their control.

Never hungry first in the morning? Eating nothing then may promote weight gain, not weight loss.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers Give Yourself A Break With Breakfast

A young obstetrician I know went for a while without lunch every day. Her schedule is so heavy from hospital to house calls to office hours that she often skipped lunch to be on time at her office. Then, after this seemed to be happening regularly, she realized that changes should be made, that light lunch should be planned for in a new way.

She doesn't recommend going without a scheduled lunch hour, not at all. She acknowledges that for most people lunch time is a necessary break in the day and that many need a fairly substantial lunch then. But she does feel that a snatched sandwich on the run makes for indigestion, and that the few quiet moments she gains by staying away from a crowded lunch counter is more refreshment for her than the food she'd have time to eat there.

The solution to her problem is a cup of soup warmed in her office, plus a small sandwich or a piece of fruit. However, she's quick to point out, lunch can be extra light only if enough fueling nourishment is taken at breakfast.

Excess weight accumulates by various routes, and eating too much at every meal is only one of them. Another is to eat nothing or so little at breakfast that hunger overtakes caution at a mid-morning coffee break, and again at lunch. After a proper breakfast, it's so much easier to be sensible about what's eaten throughout the day. Eggs particularly save off a hungry feeling for a long time.

Get the habit of eating a good breakfast and your hurry problem at noon may be solved as well as your problem of threatening weight gain. Twelve menus on our Beauty Diet provide both for losing weight and for keeping it where it is, and give the breakfast suggestions you need

Profit Taking Apparent In Mixed Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was highly selective and mixed Wednesday with trading fairly active.

Considerable profit taking was apparent after Tuesday's big advance. This was especially noticeable among the leading steel shares which were active and a bit lower.

Rails, which lagged in Tuesday's recovery, made up for it a bit Wednesday and staged a technical advance. Utilities were firm. Motors were mostly lower. Oils, base metals, aircrafts and farm implements were irregular. Chemicals showed a lower trend.

A good deal of contrary responses were shown by stocks affected by their individual news of dividends or earnings. It was a market of cross currents.

The optimistic speeches by President Eisenhower Tuesday night and by Treasury Secretary Anderson Wednesday were not regarded by Wall Streeters as having any particular effect on the market as they introduced no fresh elements into the financial picture.

Gains and losses of key stocks went generally from fractions to around a point or so.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at $168.60 with the industrials down 40 cents, the rails up 60 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Of 1,167 issues traded, 514 advanced and 386 declined. New highs for the year totaled 119 and new lows 7.

Test Drilling For Thruway Segment Slated

Work Progressing On Road Projects

Subsurface exploration for the westerly extension of the Cumberland Thruway may begin here next week, according to G. Bates Chaires, District 6 engineer.

He said he has asked the State Roads Commission to award the contract to Equipment and Supplies, Inc., Pittsburgh, which submitted the low bid of $7,980 for the project.

The area to be explored begins at Lynn Street on the West Side and ends at the Winchester Road. Work will include test drilling to determine rock formations and soil conditions along the Thruway segment.

The development comes as the State Roads Commission is preparing to accept the new Evitts Creek Bridge, which will mark the southern limits of the Thruway project.

The prestressed concrete span built by the George Construction Company is the first of its kind in Allegany County.

Awaits Go Ahead

The first construction project on the Thruway, a 1.83 mile section of the Industrial Boulevard, has been awarded to the Cumberland Contracting Company.

The SRC has not yet forwarded the notice to proceed to the local firm for the road which begins just east of the Evitts Creek Bridge and runs to Crawford Street in Cumberland.

Work on most State Roads Commission projects in the county are being pushed as road construction weather arrives.

On U. S. 40, the Central Pennsylvania Quarry and Stripping Company recently began laying the base course on the highway from Polish Mountain to Gilpin.

Stone for the base was stockpiled over the winter so it would be ready for the opening of the construction season.

Mr. Chaires said surfacing with bituminous concrete should begin within a few weeks.

The project includes almost two miles of modern mountain highway and will cost about $1,594,000.

Completion Set Soon

Work on a McMullen Highway modernization project will be completed by the end of June. The Brotemarkle Construction Company, Mr. Chaires reported, is cleaning up the odds and ends of the widening, relocation and surfacing of the road 4.295 miles south of Rawlings toward McCool.

The $706,778 project marks the completion of a rebuilding program for Route 20 from Cresaptown to McCool.

Good progress is being made by the Cumberland Contracting Company on the $758,767 relocation of State Route 36 from Route 40 to Corriganville.

Sewage problems are still holding up the improvement of 38 miles of Route 40 from Route 36 to Long.

Crash Victims Reported 'Good'

Two men injured in a one-car crash May 11 on State Route 395 are reported in good condition at Sacred Heart Hospital.

They are Robert Myers, 22, of 38 Somerville Avenue, who sustained a fractured jaw, face abrasions and a fractured right leg; and Robert Cease, 24, of South Paw Paw Place, who suffered a fractured vertebra.

The two men were passengers in a convertible operated by Robert Franklin Twigg, 23, of RD 4, city.

Maryland State Police said the accident occurred at 1:40 a. m. as Twigg was driving south on Route 395. The driver failed to negotiate a right turn, careened across the highway and struck an embankment on the left side of the road.

An investigation is being continued, police said. State Route 395, or Nave's Cross Road, is located between U. S. Routes 40 and 220 east of Cumberland.

He was picked up here yesterday by Lt. James E. Van after Baltimore authorities forwarded a non-support bench warrant.

C&A's Local Expansion Program Outlined To Club

Natural gas customers here are drawing on a Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company post-war construction program now totaling over $22,000,000, the Optimist Club learned last night. Two and one-half million dollars of that total went for lines in this area, Peggy Quinn, gas company representative, pointed out.

Some $1,100,000 was invested in nearby pipelines bringing gas into Cumberland. This includes the 18-mile line from Keyser to Cumberland, seven miles of new line moving gas into the south end of town through to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and a new line in LaVale. As a result of this work, Cumberland's gas delivery pipelines have been reinforced from both the south and the north.

The balance of C & A's Cumberland construction expenditures cover "distribution" gas mains within the city. About 80 per cent
